This course will be an in-depth study of Pedagogy of the Oppressed by Paulo Freire. Freire’s “dialogical education” sets a philosophical background for the understanding violence as a distortion of the original solidarity that binds humanity together. This course will approach education for peace and nonviolence as teaching and learning that challenge the solidarity built on capitalism and foster a critical understanding of human interdependency.